

STEPin

We support parents and adult to become role models

The STEPin project aims to support parents in becoming role models and motivators for their children for using their time online in a sensible and constructive way. The goal is to empower them with knowledge, skills and tools so that they are able to recognise and deal with Internet Abusive Behaviour (IAB) and the dangers and consequences that come with it.

Needs and gaps of adult educators | Slovenia

To learn more about the needs in the adult education sector, 12 adult educators took part in this survey who are working on this field on average of 10 years. They work with different target groups, from children to adults, vulnerable target groups... 58 % of respondents also perform activities for the target group of parents.

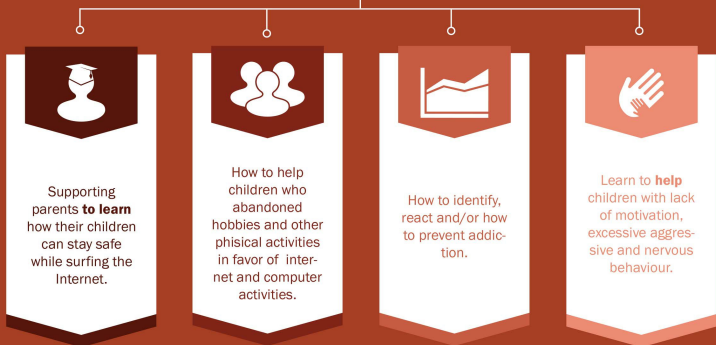

How familiar are AE with the topic of online addiction of children and/or internet abusive behavior yourself?

Adult Educators

Experiences

Challenges

Based on both studies, conducted among parents and adult educators, we found that the lack of knowledge in both sides is quite high. There is also a need for new additions of teaching materials, as well as the promotion of existing ones, which are well-set but perhaps a little unknown.
